Information for Parents on the National Action Plan for Childminding (2021 – 2028)

National Action Plan for Childminding
2021-2028

Introduction

For many children, a childminder is their main carer other than their parents, often starting in their early childhood and continuing into their school years. Childminders integrate the care of children into their own family life and give children the opportunity to experience daily activities that they would experience in their own family home. Childminders are often a cherished and constant figure in a child's life – almost a second family.

Childminders are highly valued by many parents because of the home-from-home setting, their strong and lasting relationships, low child to adult ratios and the flexibility they can offer. Childminders cater for children of all ages and this can give parents the added benefit of siblings being minded together.

The Department of Children, Equality, Diversity, Inclusion and Youth developed a National Action Plan for Childminding which was published in April 2021. The Action Plan aims to improve access, through childminding, to high quality and affordable early learning and care and school-age childcare.

What is the National Action Plan for Childminding?

The Action Plan is a pathway to be developed over the next 8 years that sets out steps towards regulation, support and subsidies, for all paid, non-relative childminders. The Action Plan will involve change and significant benefits for childminders, children and the families using their services.

The Action Plan follows through on the following commitments:

- The Programme for Government - to examine options to accelerate access to subsidies e.g. National Childcare Scheme for parents using non-relative childminders.
- First 5 - to promote and support the registration of paid, non-relative childminders currently eligible to register with Tusla and to extend regulation to all other paid, non-relative childminders on a phased basis over the lifetime of the Strategy.

What is the aim of the National Action Plan for Childminding?

The aim of the Action Plan is to provide greater recognition for childminding and to support childminders in their work of providing high quality early learning and care and school age childcare, thus supporting child development and learning outcomes and helping families.

The Action Plan aims to support parental choice and increase availability of flexible and affordable early learning and care and school-age childcare for working parents.

Who is the National Action Plan for Childminding for?

This Action Plan is designed to support all paid, non-relative childminders, parents and children. The Action Plan is not primarily focused on nannies or au pairs who work in the child's home, who are employees of the child's parents.

How will the National Action Plan for Childminding benefit parents?

The Action Plan will increase the options for parents in accessing affordable and high quality early learning and care and school-age childcare. The action plan will help improve the quality of provision, support child outcomes and provide greater recognition and support for childminders. It will give more childminders the opportunity to take part in the National Childcare Scheme and create a positive incentive for childminders to register with Tusla. This in turn will allow parents to access subsidies that were not previously available to them.

How will parents be consulted on future development?

Consultation with parents has already informed the development of the Action Plan. Parents will continue to be central and there will be opportunities for further consultation at key stages. In particular, it will be important that parent's views and opinions are reflected in the development of new regulations and inspection processes to ensure they are suited to the home and childminding setting.
